Subject: First ever iGaming Recruitment Open Day organised by CSB and LGA

CSB, operators of www.VacancyCentre.com, under the patronage of the Lotteries and Gaming Authority (LGA) are organising the first ever iGaming Recruitment Open Day in Malta on July 14th.

"This is the first time such an event is being organised, focusing on iGaming and held under the patronage of the LGA, the regulator for the sector", Jonathan M. Dalli, Business Development Executive at CSB highlighted. "The main aim is to introduce potential Maltese employees to the career opportunities that the iGaming industry opens for them. iGaming is a relatively new but booming market in Malta, and so the careers it offers are fast-paced, flexible, dynamic and professional, along with an international exposure. It also pays better than average salaries."

Rita Calleja, Human Resources and Administration Manager at the LGA commented; "We have planned this event with CSB and embarked on a holistic marketing campaign in order to promote career opportunities in one of the fastest growing industries in Malta. Such event also shows the commitment of the Authority in sending a positive message across to iGaming companies and career seekers. In addition, this event should also help the public understand better what iGaming is all about."

A number of iGaming operators will be setting up stands at the Corinthia San Gorg Hotel in order to meet the public and demonstrate the operational aspect of working in an iGaming company. Furthermore, a number of interactive seminars and workshops will also be held on the day focusing on such opportunities. The exhibiting iGaming companies at the event include Tain, Game Theory, Betfair, Unibet, Regent Markets and MyBet.

The event will be held at the Corinthia San Gorg Hotel on July 14th from 9am to 8pm. The general public is invited to attend.
